學校簡介
Introduction

The Universitat Jaume I (UJI) is the public university in the north of the Valencian Community, a region on the European Mediterranean coast located among the cities of Valencia, Barcelona and Madrid. Established in 1991, the UJI has positioned itself as a friendly university characterised by its personal attention, smooth-running management procedures and the high levels of participation of its members in university life, due, among other things, to its convenient size, with about 15,000 students, and its integrated, modern, functional and sustainable campus.

The close relationship among lecturers and students at the Universitat Jaume I enable lecturers to reach a level of educational excellence that guarantees a clearly defined educational model based on lifelong learning, integral education and active participation in social progress based on the foundations of peaceful, equitable, supportive relationships and respect for the environment.

The UJI is also distinctive for the international outlook of its activities, a result of the need to open to the world, characteristic of young European universities, and of the socioeconomic needs of the Valencian region.

Founded when the information society was fully immersed in the process of consolidation, the development of the Universitat Jaume I has been marked by advances in information and communication technologies (ICT). For this reason, the application of ICT in learning and research processes and in university management has always featured at the Universitat Jaume I, to the point that it was a pioneer in this field with initiatives such as the creation of the first Spanish web server or the first Centre for Education and New Technologies in Spain.
